WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 - The war and navy departments are trying to hush it up, but the whole question of U. S. naval bases on formerly Jap controlled Pacific islands, has developed into a violent hair-pulling contest among different government bureaus. If we administrate Okinawa, Saipan, Truk, etc., the same haphazard way govenment agencies are fighting over them, we'll be in for real trouble. Already there have been repercussions in London and Moscow. Here is the inside story of the backstage feud.

It began last August when the navy quietly moved in to get control of the Pacific islands. What it wanted was permanent naval governments on the islands. rather than civilian governments under the interior department such as now exist in the Philippines, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin islands.

To this end, Vice Admiral R. S. Edwards, one of the navy's top imperialists, drafted a cautious memo listing the major island bases the navy proposed operating after the war. This was done without telling the army, which also has a definite stake in the islands, or the interior department which is charged with running island governments.

Truman Acts Fast

The memo was sent to the White House and much to Admiral Edwards' surprise came back one day later, marked "Approved." Below was President Truman's signature. It was initialed also by Truman's naval aide, Rear Admiral James Vardaman, who had helped grease the

The navy was amazed that Truman had made such an important decision affecting vital U.S. policy in the Pacific without consulting the state, war or interior departments. But it was delight-

A few days later, Acting Secretary of the Interior Abe Fortas, knowing nothing about the president's action, dropped over to confer with Assistant Secretary of the navy Sullivan and a group of GARDEN tended by Father Bittadmirals, and outlined the inter- ner supplements slim food rations. ior department's views on how to handle Pacific islands. He proposed that the navy and the interior department set up a joint committee to study the subject.

Sullivan and the admirals listened politely and with poker faces. They knew that Truman had OK'd their memo making the navy supreme over Pacific islands, but they never uttered a peep. Portas left knowing noth-

Meanwhile, Assistant Secretary of War Jack McCloy had been tipped off regarding the navy's quiet maneuver, as also were the "empire builders" of the air forces. The latter were especially furious at Truman's actions. For the air boys consider these islands vital to B-29 and long range bomber operations. And if the navy gets control, the army is hamstrung in exactly the same way the navy would not let the army planes patrol the waters around Hawaii before Pearl Harbor.

Army Steps in So on Sept. 10, McCloy drafted a one-page memo which his chief, Secretary Stimson, signed and sent to the White House. Stimson pointed out that security is "intermeshed" regarding Pacific island bases and is a joint problem for both the army and navy.

In conclusion, Stimson said he assumed Truman had approved the navy as an "interim authority" over the islands, not a permanent authority.

Much to the army's surprise this memo came back from the White House one day later, also marked "approved" and signed Harry S. Truman. It was obvious to them that the new president believed in speed, not consultation.

So to put another roadblock in front of the navy, Assistant War Secretary McClov suggested to his colleagues that the entire question of the islands be thrown in the lap of a combined state, war and navy department committee. To this end he had a memo mimeographed and started circulating it, when Admiral Ed-

Bombed-out Catholic University in Tokyo Merry-Go-Carries on Activities in Ruined Buildings

AN EMPTY SHELL is all that remains of the original building of the Catholic University of Tokyo. Erected by the late Cardinal O'Connell in 1912, the structure was destroyed in a B-29 raid on May 25, 1945. Here Father Peter Herzog, Father Bruno Bittner, Father Aloysius Michel and Father Joseph Rogendorf, left to right, survey the ruins of the modern school where classes were once held.

COBBLER AND TAILOR at the university, Father Karl Gepp repairs shoes as senior Fathers look on. When his shop was bombed out. Father Gepp moved outdoors. He built his chair from salvaged scrap lumber and cheerfully carries on his essential tasks.

Tuesday night the "grunt and groaners" will be shifted around a bit and Roy Graham, the big fellow from Dallas, Texas, is meeting Don O'Connor from Boston, Mass., in the main event. Marshall Estepp, Sturgeon, Mo., returns to Sedalia and meets Dick Lever, Nashville, Tenn., a newcomer in the local ring in the semi-windup. The special or opening event is between Ken Fenelon of Dubuque, Iowa, and Ralph Garibaldi, St. Louis.

It seems Graham has been on the last two cards of the Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion, wrestling shows and has done all right by himself. He is a big man and has had little trouble with the opponents who have been somewhat smaller, but the Irishman from Boston, is somewhat larger than the other opponents and has a little more wrestling ability, which should be a big help.

O'Connor referring to his being matched with Graham, remarked: "He's the fellow from that foreign country down south," and this didn't set any too well with Graham from Texas. People who live in Dallas don't have much use for their neighbors especially Fort Worth, and a contender from a good account to the fans in Boston makes it more worth wrestling entertainment.

Little, Columbia's canny coach, was holding forth on how the offense has taken over football this season - and Lou's Lions didn't do so badly in that respect Saturday. . . . "That's the way it should be." Little maintained, and three yard gains is a thing of the past. The fans want offensive football and I think we ought to encourage the offense in every admitted. "The assignments are but charge and batter his brains out on defense." . . . One of the listeners interrupted: "It doesn't take brains to play tackle, does it, Lou?" . . . "No," stated Lou grimly. "If he had any brains was about as good a tackle as

ATTENTION HOG FEEDERS

Good News For You!

Krey Packing Company takes great pleasure in announcing the appointment of

MR. CLYDE FERGUSON

as our representative hog buyer at SEDALIA, MISSOURI

Missouri Pacific Stockyards Telephone 97

Beginning Monday, October 15, 1945-need we say more?—everyone within the Sedalia area are purely familiar with Clyde Ferguson. He has probably bought more hogs than any one man in Pettis County, and will be happy to see all his old friends and their friends any time you can come in.

Make It A Point To Come In And Visit With Mr. Ferguson

anytime you are in Sedalia, whether you have hogs to sell or not. His time is your time.

Mr. Peyton, who has been pinch-hitting as our buyer, also wishes to thank the many feeders he had the pleasure of meeting and serving.

Mr. Ferguson asks the support and patronage of every hog producer in Sedalia trading territory with the solemn assurance of his very best personal efforts to please and serve you faithfully and honestly as you know he will.

Krey Packing Company's entire resources and reputation are solidly and permanently behind Mr. Ferguson and we are more than pleased that we were fortunate enough to engage his services.
